

West of Dirty

Chelsea NYC Art Blog covering the galleries West of Dirty (8th Ave.). Many north/south avenues in Manhattan have nicknames inspired by locality (Madson for Madison Park) or by trade (Fashion for 7th because of the garment trade). 8th Ave is kind of a lonely, forlorn street, that we've given the name "Dirty" because it seems to fit. Please check here often to see what's happening in the NYC art scene.
westofdirty@gmail.com

—Sean and Monica Welsh

Blane De St. Croix

Dead Ice

Fredericks & Freiser Gallery

Giant Iceberg built out of recycled materials. Fills the entire gallery and reminds us of the coming cook of global warming. Feels like a ship on the back side and an iceberg on the other side. Check it out before it melts.

fredericksfreisergallery.com

3 May 2014

